GOING PLACES II

BLOWN FEVER

On his way to an IHBA championship last year, Ralph Mills put together the IHBA's most dominant jet team with the Blown Fever TFJ. At season's end, driver Doug Durnall — who frequently credited his PLACE DIVERTER SYSTEM for hard leaves and superior control — held the record at 6.96. This season, TFJ rookie Tim Place is making a bid to assume the void created when Mills parked the boat for 1993. At the Mission Foods IHBA Nationals, Going Places II ripped a spectacular 165.58 pass, chalked the new record at 164.48, and bumped a tenth off the ET mark with a blistering 6.86!

"The Place-Diverter is highly effective in improving the performance of your boat under varying loads and water conditions. It's the jet-boater's equivalent of trim for your drive, and the results are dramatic. We highly recommend it for every jet."
